

Articles that publish the Journal Gestión de la Educación

Article	Description
Scientific article	It derives from the research or the expert knowledge in the subject. It has the purpose of expressing the theoretical or practical results obtained from scientific research in one of the areas related to administration or management of education.
Essay	It derives from the study, analysis, interpretations and evaluation of a specific problem or topic, related to administration or management of education to produce a text to argue, explain, compare, or reject an idea or thesis.
Thematic review	It derives from documental research that has as the purpose of comparing and analyzing different positions about a specific problem or topic related to the administration or management of education, to produce a coherent text with the main results and conclusions about it.
Biographical sketch	It derives from the study and description of a person or organization, to produce a biographical text to stand out the academic formation, contribution, and relevance in the administration or management of education of that person or organization.